Conclusion:

Dynamic programming is a useful technique of solving certain kind of problems When the solution can be recursively described in terms of partial solutions, we can store these partial solutions and re-use them as necessary (memoization).
 Running time of dynamic programming algorithm 0-1 Knapsack problem: $O(W*n)$.